Time scale:

- A full-time course of flight training for the MCC (Multi Crew Cooperation)/JOC is expected to take at between 4 and 6 weeks to complete. However, in most cases, course length will be dictated by the student's availability and will take considerably longer.

Validity, revalidation and renewal of MCC/JOC:

- An MCC/JOC is valid for 3 years.

Qualification:

- In this last phase of your training, we'll prepare you to work in a two-person aircraft cockpit, dividing the tasks and communicating correctly and efficiently. This part of your education is vital, and forms the transition to commercial multi-pilot flight operation. The MCC/JOC course is required for airline pilots and for admission to a type rating on a particular aircraft type. MCC (Multi Crew Cooperation)/JOC will also be entered in your license.
